

Telstra IoT/M2M

Certified Modules and Integrated Devices

Published Date: 23 September 2019

Listed below are the Wireless Embedded Modules and Integrated Devices that have been certified for use on the Telstra Mobile Network since 2015. The devices in this list have been certified through the Telstra IoT/M2M Certification Program to Telstra's guidelines and mandatory criteria. Telstra's guidelines also ensure that RCM and ACMA regulatory requirements are met.

Telstra intends that its 3G service will remain until at least 2020. Full or partial geographic closure may occur any time after 2020, but would be unlikely before 2022. In any case, Telstra will provide a reasonable notice period of any shutdown activities that would impact end customers. Full closure is most certainly expected well before 2030. So somewhere between 2020 and 2030 the 3G service will be shut down but precisely when has not yet been decided.

Telstra requires all new IoT/M2M cellular capable devices to support 4G-LTE (and VoLTE if voice is required). As from December 2018, Telstra will not accept any 3G only device into the IoT/M2M Device Certification Program.

4G-LTE presents several unique technological improvements that provide significant benefits to IoT/M2M operators such as much greater network capacity and efficiency, and greater in-building penetration when 4GX Band 28 is supported.

Regarding radio band support, Telstra's major 4G coverage bands are band 28 and 3, and 3G coverage band is band 5, so any device choice needs to support these three bands as a minimum (see Telstra's network coverage map). All modules and devices certified need to support remote firmware upgrade capability. For questions and certification requests please contact TelstraWirelessM2MHardware@team.telstra.com.
