

SIMPLIFYING MOBILITY MANAGEMENT

MOBILITY IS CHANGING BUSINESS DRAMATICALLY

As mobility continues to assume a larger role in the enterprise, organisations need to plan for both their current and future mobile needs.

A mobile managed device (MDM) platform used to be the entry point, however organisations are now looking for a more comprehensive mobility managed solution with flexible deployment options.

Central to this is ensuring that an organisations' information stored on devices and apps is protected and secured, as well as the device itself.

As your business grows, so does the complexity of managing your mobile fleet. Our Mobility Managed Services can scale up as you seize new sources of growth, so you can stay focused on your business.

Concentrate on what really matters with a complete managed solution

End-to-end support	Enhance security	Reduce staff downtime	Maximise performance	Improve cost control
We'll help take the pressure off your in-house IT resources to provide you with the convenience and accountability of a single end-to-end relationship.	We'll help protect your mobile fleet and preferred device types with ongoing software updates including security, patches and governance layer.	Many issues can be resolved quickly – so your staff can get back to work. And our dedicated 24x7 support can easily keep pace with your mobile fleet growth.	We'll help you plan, deploy, integrate and manage a range of mobile devices including public and customised apps to optimise your organisational performance.	Our single-provider approach supports and helps to protect your corporate network and data. So your teams can work more efficiently on the go.

REDUCE THE COSTS AND DISTRACTIONS OF USING YOUR IN-HOUSE RESOURCES

Keep pace with rapidly changing mobile needs

For many IT departments, supporting an ever-increasing range of devices and applications is becoming difficult to deploy.

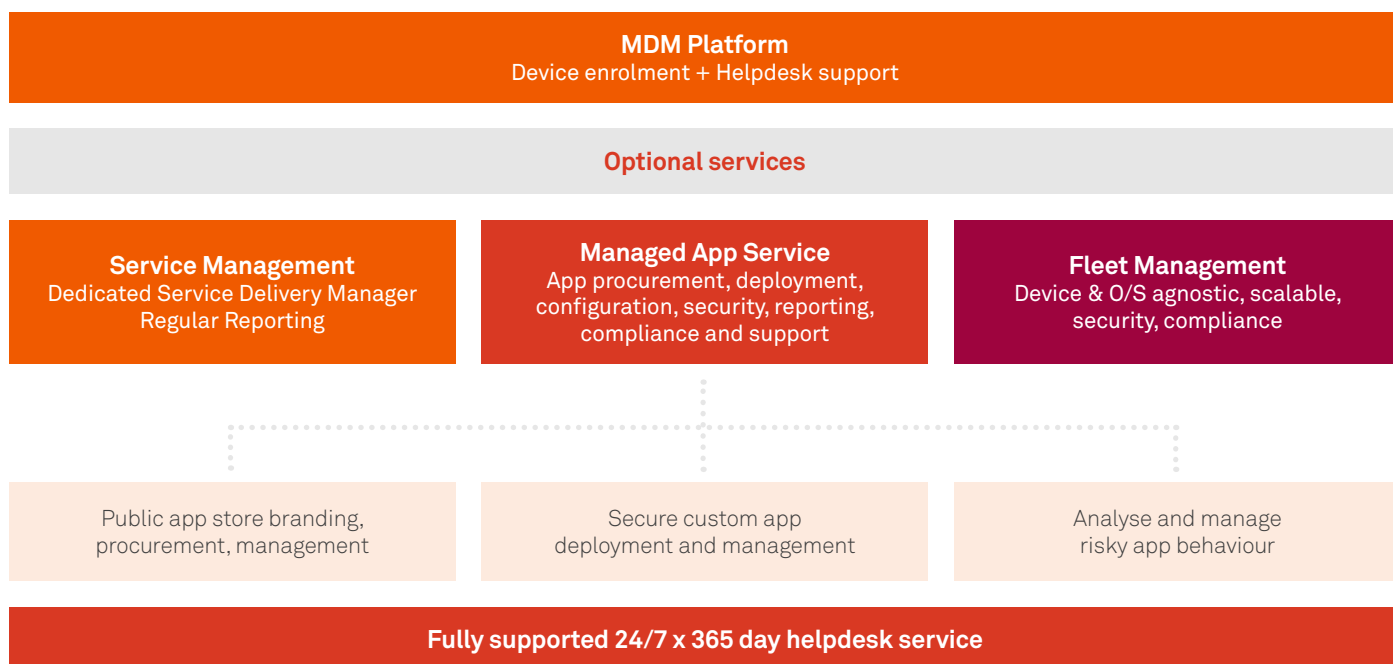

Today, Telstra Mobility Managed Services is supporting and protecting over 80,000 devices for Australian businesses. We have the expertise to safeguard your assets and data, so you can keep your workforce productive, around the clock.

Deliver more power and flexibility to your business

We can provide you with an end-to-end managed services solution – carefully tailored to your business needs.

We offer a range of support including a 24/7 x 365 day service desk, plus protection from security threats. Our mobility managed services can support a wide range of devices, applications, operating systems and carriers. You can scale up your mobility managed services as you grow your mobile fleet.

Mobility Managed Services tailored to your needs

Manage mobility with Telstra

We'll help bring all your mobile services together, including apps, on one bill. That means one provider and one point of contact, and covers your devices, plan, management and professional service costs.

Telstra has invested in more than 8,200 mobile coverage sites across city and country, which is more than any other Australian mobile network, so you can enjoy greater and more reliable mobile coverage with fewer dead spots.
