Setting up a VMR Multiparty Conference
When organising a multiparty video conference, the meeting host will need to advise all guest participants of the VMR number to dial into at the required meeting time.

- From a video device Dial your VMR number (10 digit number e.g. 0292635465)
- To start the meeting, press # when prompted

Note: As the host you have 15 seconds to enter #. If you do not meet this time frame you will be added to the meeting as a guest. You may need to hang up and dial in again to become the host.

- Enter your Host Pin, followed by #

Dialling into a VMR as a Guest
The meeting organiser needs to advise all guests of the Video Conference details (i.e. the VMR number and time of the meeting)

- From a video device Dial the VMR number
  (This is a 10 digit number, e.g. 0287837469)

If the meeting host has not started the meeting, you will be advised via an audio prompt:
“Please wait for the Host to join the meeting”
Once the meeting host starts the meeting you will be joined to the conference.

Note the following:
- If you are dialling from your Smartphone or tablet using the Polycom RealPresence app, you will be required to enter: VMR@telstra.com
- If you are dialling from an Internet connected video device, you will be required to enter the IP address of your VMR: VMR@telstra.com
- If you are dialling from an ISDN connected video device, you will be required to dial the ISDN Gateway number: 0284243900 followed by the VMR number after the prompt
- To make a free audio call from audio devices (PSTN, Mobile) into a TIPT VMR, dial 1800TSPACE (1800 877 223) then enter the VMR number.

If you are the host, press # then enter your Host pin and press #
- When dialling from an International location, Dial +61 (then the VMR number) e.g: +61 2 9919xxxx
