2 INTERNATIONAL FREECALL AND GLOBAL 800 SERVICES

What are International Freecall and Global 800 services?

- 2.1 The International Freecall service and Global 800 service are automatic reverse charge services for voice or fax calls from outside Australia. This means that a caller does not pay for calls to an International Freecall or Global 800 number from a country where they are available to the caller.

- 2.2 The International Freecall service is available in a number of countries, which may change from time to time. We will provide you with a different telephone number for each of the available countries that you nominate to have your International Freecall service operate from.

For example, the numbers in New Zealand will be 0800 XXX XXX and the numbers in Brazil will be 123 XXX XXX XXX. Your callers can then use the applicable number for the country they are in to call you for free.

- 2.3 The Global 800 service is available in a number of countries, which may change from time to time. We will provide you with a unique Global 800 telephone number that can be used by your callers to call you for free from any of the available countries.

Limitations

- 2.4 Some countries have specific requirements relating to the allocation of numbers. We cannot control these requirements and they are dependent on the regulations of the country that you are applying to have your service number available in.

For example, if you require an International Freecall service or Global 800 service where callers can call from China, you will need to get two services - one for North China and one for South China.

- 2.5 The availability of the International Freecall and Global 800 service depends on each applicable country continuing to make the services available in that country. You acknowledge that we cannot guarantee the availability of the International Freecall or Global 800 service in any particular country.
