1 About this Part

1.1 This is part of the BigPond service section of Our Customer Terms.

1.2 Provisions in other parts of the BigPond service section apply.

See clause 1 of Part A - General Terms for BigPond services section for more detail on how the various parts of the BigPond service section should be read together. To see these terms click here.

1.3 If you continue to acquire a BigPond wireless broadband service on and after 17 October 2010, this Part D – Mobile Broadband and Part I – Special Offers of the BigPond service section of Our Customers Terms apply to your service as if references to “BigPond Mobile Broadband” are references to “BigPond wireless broadband”.

2 BigPond Mobile Broadband

What is BigPond Mobile Broadband?

2.1 Mobile broadband uses radio frequency signals to connect to the internet. You do not need a telephone line or access to a cable network to use the service.

2.2 The BigPond Mobile Broadband service allows you to:

- (a) access the world wide web, BigPond broadband web hosting services, electronic mail service and global newsgroups;
- (b) upload and download files to and from the global internet using the file transfer protocol;
- (c) access Telnet, native and HTTP access to global gopher services; and
- (d) use other services we may tell you about.

2.3 Your service depends on the equipment you or your group member use.

2.4 If you use a BigPond Mobile Broadband USB or BigPond Broadband Ready Device that supports roaming onto the EDGE network from the Next G network and you move outside a Next G network coverage area:

- (a) you will receive non-broadband speeds on the EDGE network;

Part D – Mobile Broadband

- (b) the mobile card will automatically transfer from the Next G network to the EDGE network and will generally maintain your connection during data transfers;
- (c) when moving from the Next G to the EDGE network and back, the mobile card will generally wait until no data has transferred for 20 to 30 seconds before trying to select the Next G network; and
- (d) if the Next G network is available and suitable radio conditions exist, the automatic transfer will occur. This may not be effective for applications that constantly send data without pausing for any period.

2.5 If you use your BigPond Mobile Broadband USB or BigPond Broadband Ready Device with the service that does not support roaming onto the EDGE network from the Next G network, and you move outside a Next G network coverage area, you will lose your connection until you move back within a Next G network coverage area.

Equipment

2.6 To take up the BigPond Mobile Broadband service, you need to connect with:

- (a) a BigPond Mobile Broadband USB;
- (b) a BigPond Broadband Ready Device (including a BigPond Broadband Ready Laptop);
- (c) a BigPond Mobile Broadband Network Gateway; or
- (d) a BigPond Mobile Broadband Wi-Fi (“BigPond Mobile Broadband Device”).

Our network

2.7 The BigPond Mobile Broadband service is provided over our Next G network. Your BigPond Mobile Broadband device only operates on our network with a BigPond plan.

Your obligations

2.8 You must not use or allow others to use your service:

- (a) in connection with any machine-to-machine applications (i.e. any automated telemetry, telematics or telematics application which links two or more systems or devices with a mobile data connection);

Part D – Mobile Broadband

- (b) to connect to the internet via another internet service provider; or
- (c) to establish any point to point data connections with another modem.

Cancelling your service

2.9 You will not have to pay a cancellation fee if you have installed your service and:

- (a) you or your group member cannot connect to the Next G network with a BigPond Mobile Broadband device (excluding a BigPond Broadband Ready Device) as a result of no coverage or poor coverage, and you meet the requirements of our coverage guarantee policy set out below, fair wear and tear excepted; or
- (b) we determine that your BigPond Mobile Broadband Device (excluding a BigPond Broadband Ready Device) is faulty.

2.10 This is in addition to your rights to cancel the service under Part A - General Terms for BigPond services.

Cancellation and reconnection

2.11 If your service is cancelled before the end of your minimum term, you may need to pay the following cancellation fee. The cancellation fee is pro-rated for the months remaining on your minimum term.
