Connection timeframes

Once we've accepted your application, we'll try to connect your home phone service on the date you ask for, but this might not always be possible.

If there has been a previous working home phone service at your property and we can reconnect it without having to visit your property, the local telephone exchange or anywhere in between, then we aim to connect the service within 2 working days of your request. If this isn't possible, then we aim to connect your service within 5 to 15 working days, depending on your location.

If you or someone living in your home has a diagnosed life threatening medical condition and your life may be at risk without access to a home phone service, you can request to be a Priority Assistance customer. We aim to connect Priority Assistance customer's home phone service within 24 hours of being asked in urban and rural areas, or within 48 hours in remote areas.

Important information about your first bill

When you take up a new service with Telstra, you're assigned a day of the month as your bill cycle date. This is the day that your bill is issued every month (also known as your billing cycle). The billing date you're assigned isn't normally the same day you connect with us. This means that in addition to your charges for the full month, your first bill will include a part monthly charge for the period from the day you connected your new plan to your first billing date.

For example, if you called us on the 1st day of the month and we assigned the 15th as your billing date, your first bill will cover a period of 45 days. So in this instance, a $30 per month plan will appear as $45 on your first bill (plus call charges and features where applicable).

Managing unwanted calls

To reduce unwanted calls from businesses you have no relationship with, you can register your service on the Do Not Call Register which is managed by the Australian Communications and Media Authority on behalf of the Federal Government. For more details, please visit donotcall.gov.au
