

IS IT REALLY TELSTRA CALLING?

What you need to know

MAKE SURE YOU KNOW WHO'S TALKING TO YOU

It's quite common to be contacted by telemarketers from companies you deal with and some you don't. At Telstra, we often call our customers to review their accounts, inform them about new products and services, or let them know if their account is overdue.

Unfortunately, sometimes companies call our customers claiming they're from Telstra when they're not. They may try to switch Telstra customers to another phone company, or in some instances attempt to obtain personal information they can use to access your money and accounts.

These people may quote fake Telstra Employee (ID) Numbers or Customer Account Numbers; or describe themselves as 'Telstra technicians'.

We realise that sometimes it's not easy to tell a scam call from a real Telstra call. This leaflet provides some advice to help you know whether it's really Telstra calling.

What you might hear from callers	What we'd like you to know as a valued Telstra customer
"There's a fault with your computer, and you need to pay for technical support or software..."	We'll notify you in writing about any technical fault that requires your attention.
"I'm from Telstra and your internet will soon be disconnected..."	We'll notify you in writing about any scheduled service interruptions in your area.

WE CONNECT

Please be careful about what you agree to in any sales pitch over the phone – especially if it sounds suspicious, or too good to be true. Also, please be wary of unsolicited telephone calls from people asking for your personal information.
