

HAVE YOU DOCUSIGNED TODAY?

At Telstra we pride ourselves on delivering a brilliantly connected future – for everyone. That future has just become a whole lot brighter with the introduction of DocuSign – a leading e-Signature and transaction management solution, delighting business customers globally.

DocuSign electronic signatures contain multilayered verification and built in tamper proof security, that can be fully tracked and audited. DocuSign also easily integrates with popular cloud storage solutions such as Box to provide easy access to your documents and templates. The powerful combination of the Telstra Mobile Network and DocuSign means fewer dead spots and more reliable speeds. The Telstra Mobile Network is Australia's largest mobile network covering more than 2.3 million square kilometres - that's hundreds of thousands of more square kilometres than what other networks say they can offer. “Our business is completely digital, if you want to have a conversation with us and I send you an NDA (Non-Disclosure Agreement) it’s going to have a DocuSign signature on it.” – Steve McBride (Weever Apps)

Legality of eSignatures

Before using DocuSign, you’ll need to check that its suitable for your circumstances. Australia’s Electronic Transactions Act 1999 (Cth) recognises that electronic signatures can be used to form valid contracts, where those signatures reliably identify the person and that person’s intention to be bound by the contract and where electronic signatures are not excluded by state legislation.
